COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

During the past couple of weeks the trucks and plows have been checked over for winter snow removal. The necessary repairs have been made, tires changed, lights checked, to make sure that all equipment is in readiness for the first snow storm. There are always unforeseen things, such as breaking an axle, than can develop to hinder snow removal work. Therefore it pays to make all known required repairs to provide as efficient service as possible.

The town has about one hundred miles of road to plow. Which includes town ways and streets, State Aid roads, and the State Highways in the area. The same equipment will be available this winter that was used during the last winter, three conventional drive trucks, two 4-wheel trucks, and the grader with 12-foot wing.

Currently the highway crew is working on a Town Road Improvement project in Mason on the King's Highway. A few of these outside projects aid in keeping the crew busy when our own work is caught up. It also earns funds for the Truck Rental account.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO LEARN OF WOOD RESEARCH

ELEANOR GORDON GUILD

The Eleanor Gordon Guild met Tuesday evening at the Methodist Church vestry with 20 present including two guests, Mrs. Irving Brown and Mrs. George Wright. Mrs. Frank Lowell led the group in devotions.

It was voted to donate $25 to the Methodist Church to provide light fixtures for the annex. It was also voted to give $5 to CARE and $5 to the Retarded Children's Foundation which is being organized in Randolph for that town and surrounding communities. Food was solicited for the Christmas party to be held Dec. 11.

Miss Shirley Bartlett, IFYE delegate to England and Wales, gave a very interesting commentary with colored slides on her stay abroad, which were especially interesting to the English guests present.

Mrs. Dwight McMahon received the mystery package. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Frank Lowell and Mrs. Lawrence Bailey.

HEALTH COUNCIL DISTRIBUTES THANKSGIVING BASKETS

As the holiday season approaches the Sunday School children of the Methodist Church and the Congregational Church have generously contributed food to fill up the 42 Thanksgiving baskets which were prepared and distributed under the sponsorship of the Bethel Health and Service Council. Additional food was also solicited by the Youth Fellowship throughout the town, and the Club Scouts were most helpful in decorating the baskets and they also donated food.

Much credit for the quality and bounty of the baskets to the committee that has put in a great deal of time and effort to make these baskets worthy of the occasion and to be sure that no one was left out. This committee was headed by Mrs. Isaac Brooks and included Mrs. Dale Thurston, Mrs. Rodrick M. Allen and Mrs. Charles Keene.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Walling, Pansy Brooks, Dr. John Forward, Robert Keniston and Anna Thoms have delivered them for the Council.

Everyone in the community who contributed their food, money or time should be able to enjoy their own Thanksgiving a little more knowing that they have made it possible that others have enjoyed a happier occasion also.

ALBERT E. REEMTS

Albert E. Reemts was found dead at his home Friday. Death was attributed to natural causes. He was born at Woodstock, May 14, 1885, the son of George and Elizabeth Crockett Reemts. He was employed by L. M. Mann and Son at Bryant Pond until his retirement.

Survivors are a half-sister, Mrs. Lawrence Marston, East Waterford, and a half-brother, George C. Abbott, Bryant Pond.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the I. W. Andrews and Son funeral home, South Woodstock, conducted by Rev. Donald Hincley, West Paris.

ARTHRITIS REGISTRATION FOR CHILDREN AND ADULTS

This month's statewide free Arthritis Registration is for children as well as adults. Pine Tree Chapter, Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, sponsor of the registration campaign, has estimated that as many as 2,400 Maine children may have arthritis.

It hopes their parents or guardians will sign registration cards for them in the state's drug stores before November ends. The registration is being conducted with the cooperation of the Maine Pharmaceutical Association.

The popular impression is that arthritis is a disease of middle age and beyond. This overlooks the fact that about 4 per cent of all its victims are children. Many are as young as 3 years old.

Arthritis in children often is a more serious disease than it is in adults. Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation studies show. It is fatal to one out of every five children who contract it. On the other hand, about two in five make a complete recovery. It may last months; it may last well into adulthood. Heart trouble follows about a fourth of childhood cases.

It hits twice as many girls as boys. Age 3 and ages 8 to 11 are peak periods.

In about a third of childhood cases, there is a previous family history of arthritis. In 45 per cent it strikes after some kind of a cold or sore throat. Swollen joints or persistent stiff neck and fever are symptoms that sometimes indicate arthritis in children.

As in adult arthritis, it is important that childhood arthritis be treated early, according to A&R studies. One of the purposes of the Arthritis Registration is to make more information on arthritis available to those who are afflicted with it.

It is aimed also at encouraging them with the knowledge that through drugs, medical attention and physical therapy, they may be restored to active lives.

The registration seeks the basic facts about the extent and distribution of arthritis in Maine that will be needed by the Pine Tree Chapter, A&R, in its efforts to bring help to arthritis in the future.

The registration is free, voluntary and involves no obligation. Anyone who has any degree of arthritis or rheumatism is invited and urged to register.

DRIVING CARE URGED IN HOLIDAY TRAFFIC

Governor Edmund S. Muskie, Brian M. Jewett, chairman of the Maine Highway Safety Committee, and State Police Chief Robert M. Marx, have urged drivers and pedestrians to drive and walk with great care during the long Thanksgiving holiday.

"Thanksgiving time means a long, four-day week end for many people," said Governor Muskie. "Naturally, many of them will be traveling over the road during this period. This increase in the amount of travel, the uncertain road and weather conditions at this time of year, and the early darkness of the winter season form a deadly combination."

The Governor emphasized the fact that November has already been a disastrous month with high fatalities greatly exceeding those of the same month last year.

"Many of November's traffic victims have been elderly people walking in traffic," he pointed out. "I urge drivers and walkers alike to accept responsibility for avoiding these tragic deaths. Driving or walking, please be exceptionally careful during this holiday period. Please help us to save lives."

Chairman Jewett also emphasized the need for unusual care and asked drivers and pedestrians to cooperate with the statewide effort to save lives.

"Nature really attacks the cards against the driver and the one who walks in traffic at this time of year," said Chairman Jewett. "Add to this, the usual amount of traffic, and we have a truly dangerous situation. Certainly, it is the moral obligation of each driver to be his brother's keeper on the highway and certainly everyone who walks in traffic is morally bound to protect his own life."

"During this hazardous holiday week end we urge you to exercise great care. Please accept your share of the responsibility to prevent accidents."

Col. Marx, State Police Chief, added a word of caution concerning traffic conditions during this danger-period and said: "All available men will be assigned to traffic patrol during the Thanksgiving holiday period. With your cooperation, your cautious, sober driving and your common sense walking — we hope to get through this coming week end without serious traffic crashes. Please help us to achieve this goal."

BETHEL P. T. A. TO SPONSOR HARLEM GLOBETROTTERS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker, of South Portland, called on Mr. and Mrs. Randall Gilbert and Mrs. Shirley Gilbert, Saturday.

Mark, Allen, Craig and Dean Walker, Bethel, spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Walker. Mrs. Roy Newton returned home Thursday from the Osteopathic Hospital, Portland.

The Maple Grove Youth Fellowship sponsored a rummage sale at the church Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Fern Jordan, Mrs. Clifford Merrill, Mrs. Norman Hall, and Miss Ruth Hall, Bethel, called on Mrs. Lona Gilbert, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gilbert and Randy spent the week end at Mechanic Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Gilbert and family were at Lake Thompson, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Head were in Massachusetts over the week end.

SOUTH WOODSTOCK

Mrs. Olive Davis, Corres.
Leon Verrill has shot his deer this year. Several others are still waiting for their's to step out in sight.

Thanksgiving guests at Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Andrews will be Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Andrews, Ellnor, Bethel, and May Ellen; Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Andrews and Clay; Mr. and Mrs. James Andrews, Devens and Tony; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker, Linda, Randy, and Bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Andrews and three children are going to Reading, Mass., Thursday to take dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hallett. Suzanne Andrews will meet them there as she is studying in Boston at present. She will return home with them for the rest of the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Thurlow attended the Thanksgiving dinner at Mr. and Mrs. Richard Baker's, Sunday. Bruce, who is ill with a strep throat, was unable to attend. His grandmother, Myrtle Thurlow, cared for him at his home.

The Willing Workers met with Mrs. Harry Silver Wednesday evening with the following being present: Laura Heikkinen, Mrs. Catherine and Alucia Verrill, Hazel Strout, Elaine Pierce, Olive Davis, Esther Davis, Janet Benson, Jesse Andrews, Louise Andrews and Wilma Hendrickson. It was voted to put on a benefit supper for Olive Tull and family, Dec. 4th, at the Union Church. Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess. Meeting was adjourned until Dec. 11th.

Philip Bolen resumed teaching this week after returning from a business trip to Florida.

Many children have been out of school caused by the flu virus which seems to be traveling through here. We hope its stay here has ended now.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Davis entertained Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Thurlow and Dannie Bryant Thursday at a Thanksgiving dinner.

Harlan Andrews went to the hunters' camp in Greenwood Saturday for a few days with parties at West Paris. Mrs. Ina Curtis visited with Mrs. Jesse Andrews during his absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Sayward Lamb and family entertained her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Allen of Buckfield and grandfather, Frank Allen of Turner.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Degan and family took dinner at her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gayden Davis and family, Thursday.

The error I made a couple of weeks ago should be corrected. In- stead of Ormond Lamb I should have written Ormond Andrews shot a deer at that time.

THIS IS FARM-CITY WEEK

The week, November 22 to 28, is being observed as Farm-City Week in Maine and throughout the Nation. Observance of the Week in Maine is headed by a committee composed of various officials interested in better relations between city and townspeople and rural residents. Richard C. Dolloff, county agent leader for the Maine Extension Service, is chairman of the Maine Farm-City Week Committee. The Farm Bureau Association, the Extension Service, the Maine State Grange, and the sponsoring Kiwanis Clubs are represented on the committee. The committee is giving recognition to organizations which have promoted better rural-urban understanding. It is also asking various organizations to help call public attention to Farm-City Week and is helping groups obtain speakers for meetings this week.

Asian Flu and Common Sense

WHY THOUGHTFUL AMERICANS WILL WANT TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE NEW VACCINE

To the average individual, Asian Flu itself is not a particularly alarming disease. Except for some bodily discomfort and perhaps a week's disability, most people have little to worry about from the disease itself.

BUT...Asian Flu does constitute a threat!

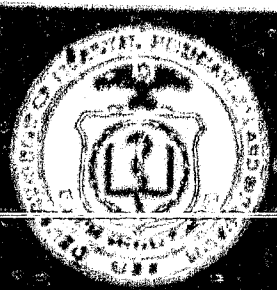

1. It can lower the body's resistance to more severe diseases. Serious complications such as pneumonia may occur.
2. Asian Flu is highly contagious. Many people can come down with it simultaneously.
3. Thus, should an epidemic strike, schools, businesses and essential community services may be seriously affected.
4. Medical facilities in epidemic areas could become gravely over-taxed.

FORTUNATELY...an effective vaccine has been developed!

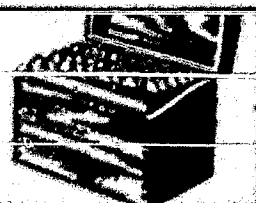

This new vaccine is safe for both adults and children. The American Medical Association and the U.S. Public Health Service recommend its use for everyone, except persons allergic to eggs. It provides immunization to most people within 10 to 14 days after vaccination and should offer protection for approximately a year. Your doctor can administer it.

Obviously, for the protection of your family and friends, you should be vaccinated against Asian Flu.

Do it at your first opportunity!

FROM OUR FILES

10 YEARS AGO

A group of people met at the Community Room to form a Dramatic Club. The purpose of the club was to obtain money for a town athletic field.

Maine butchers were paying 11 cents a pound for waste fat.

Bethel Lions Club was interested in possibilities for a playground. Richmond Rodrick gave an interesting talk on the subject and a committee was appointed to investigate and spread interest in such a venture.

20 YEARS AGO

As a special town meeting Albany voted to discontinue its town form of government and reverted to a township, with its affairs in charge of the State.

The greasing stand at Robertson's Service Station, Railroad St., was enclosed to accommodate large trucks.

Deaths: Robert H. Chapman, Mrs. Pearl Lane, Eldredge Berry.

30 YEARS AGO

Traffic was held up six hours when the ferry-boat at the scene of the new Androscoggin bridge sank. A truck load of gravel was on the boat. No one was injured.

Dr. W. R. Chapman purchased the tenement owned by E. M. Walker adjacent to what is now the Fire Department.

EXTENSION DAY GROUP

The Extension Association Day Group met at the home of Mrs. George Haines, Nov. 20. The following officers were elected for 1958: Chairman, Mrs. George Haines; Secretary, Mrs. John Forbes; Clothing, Mrs. Mary Cobb; Food, Mrs. Blanche Bennett. The Home Management Leader is to be decided on later.

The next meeting will be at Mrs. Mary Cobb's home, Dec. 18, for planning meeting and Christmas tree with exchange of gifts. In the afternoon Mrs. Rachel MacKay demonstrated how to wrap gifts and to tie bows in various ways. Also how to wrap gifts for mailing.

AGRICULTURAL TRADES

SHOW DATES SET

Dates of the annual Maine Agricultural Trades Show at Lewiston State Armory have been set for January 14, 15, and 16, 1958, says the Maine Department of Agriculture. Participants, dairymen, apple growers, florists, and vegetable growers will meet. The latest in farm equipment will be shown. Everyone's welcome.

DEERING RECEIVES AWARD AT NEW ENGLAND COUNCIL CONFERENCE

Arthur L. Deering, former Dean of the College of Agriculture, University of Maine, now Professor of Extension Education at Cornell University, received the New England Council's annual agricultural award last Friday. The presentation was made at the Council's 33rd Annual Conference at the Hotel Statler, Boston.

Mr. Deering's citation was: "For generating in Maine during a lifetime of public leadership a community of interest among agricultural agencies and between them and industry. His warm sympathy for people associated with his guidance of extension policy has radiated from the nation's easternmost state across the United States and into foreign lands."

Townsend, Oshkosh, Times: "It is generally agreed that the average driver travels in three quarters of a second. At sixty miles per hour a car will travel 66 feet in that time. At forty miles per hour it will travel 44 feet, at 20 mph it will travel 22 feet."

MAINE GREEN FORAGE

PROGRAM PLANNED FOR 1958

Plans for a comprehensive Green Forage Program for 1958 have been announced by the Maine Extension Service and the cooperating County Extension Associations. Extension Director George E. Lord says, "We're now simply making a more complete program of the forage work, involving the combined efforts of the Extension specialists in the fields of farm management, agricultural engineering, crops and dairy. Purpose of the forages program, Purpose of the Green Forage Program will be to improve the quality, quantity, and use of forages produced on Maine farms, thereby making a more efficient dairy industry." County agents of the Maine Extension Service have further information and are planning to present it to Maine dairymen this winter.

PLYMOUTH COLONY - ITS EFFECT IN HISTORY

How different would the history of our country have been if the Pilgrims had never come to Plymouth?

A Boston University colonial historian, Dr. Robert E. Moody, of Needham, Mass., director of University libraries and museums, has reminded us that, although American history "would undoubtedly have evolved the same way without the heroic Pilgrim chapter, we can't help but profoundly admire the courageous band of 102 persons from the Mayflower, who with ill equipment and little support from England, proved that they could 'make a go' of New England, which until then was regarded with discouragement."

Thus, says Dr. Moody, the Pilgrims, "with courage, virtue, and sincerity demonstrated at a critical period in world history those profound truths and experiences which proved so inspirational to those who followed."

About the influence of their actual numbers, Dr. Moody said, of the Pilgrims: "Any movement of people involving large numbers is bound to have a profound influence. But in the case of the Pilgrims there were only 102 passengers on the Mayflower. And at the end of the first year, the total deaths numbered 50 leaving but 12 of the original heads of families, only four of the original 12 men or boys who belonged to no family, and only four out of 14 wives."

Dr. Moody added that the Pilgrims were a "youthful group," with two more than 50 years old and nine more than 40. "Among the Pilgrim fathers were Bradford, 31; Winslow 25; Allerton, 32; Standish, 34; and Alden 31. Elder Brewster was about 64 and John Carver at 44 one of the oldest," explained Dr. Moody.

Thirty-nine were children. But, according to the Boston University professor, the population did not expand. By 1606, there were 100 persons living that spring from the Pilgrims stock and 30 Pilgrim survivors. Immigration was small and in general strangers were discouraged.

"In truth, the Pilgrims were few in number, rather afraid of learning, and in the modern sense of the word lacking in ambition," he said. He added that although Brewster spent a short time at Cambridge University and Bradford studied Hebrew in his old age, these facts did not outweigh the neglect of compulsory schools until 1677.

What of the Pilgrims' influence in the field of religion?

"Contrary to the belief that the Pilgrims came to Plymouth to obtain religious freedom, Dr. Moody said, 'There was religious freedom in Holland at this time. The Pilgrims came here to get rid of the 'smells of religious freedom. They feared that their children would forget the faith of their fathers, that they would learn Dutch and cease to be English Separatists.'"

Dr. Moody said that little is known of the Pilgrims' convictions regarding theology. They were Calvinists and believed in predestination and election. They also believed in Baptism by sprinkling and not by immersion.

In church services, the ministers and elders rejected the surplice and wore black gowns with a white band. They believed that marriage was a civil ceremony as did the Dutch. They "called" their ministers and made Dr. Fuller a Deacon. They used the Geneva Bible and Alsworth's Psalms, sang in unison with accompaniment, and their first church covenant doesn't explain their beliefs.

The Boston University scholar said that the Pilgrims "had great difficulty in finding a satisfactory minister. Elder Brewster was forbidden by John Robinson to celebrate communion. As their teachers or only, Brewster expounded the scriptures, but not doctrine. He held services of prayer and praise. There were ordained pastors in their midst who filled in but they were not 'called.' Roger Williams was 'called' and then rejected. Charles Chauncy was brilliant but began to teach immersion. From 1664 to 1697 there was no pastor in Plymouth."

Dr. Moody said that once the Pilgrims were here "they required conformity and feared the inevitable end to their isolation."

Regarding the claim that Dr. Samuel Fuller of Plymouth persuaded the Salem Church to embrace Separatism and hence established the precedent for the Constitutional Order, Dr. Moody quoted the noted Harvard expert on colonial history, Dr. Perry Miller, who after an exhaustive examination of this claim said that the Massachusetts Puritans were already disposed "to erect a congressional regime" before coming to New England, and that they did not "contract their church policy by a species of contagion from the separatists at Plymouth" but "would have proceeded along essentially the same lines had there been no Plymouth at all."

Did the Pilgrims exert any influence through their books? Dr. Moody mentioned Bradford's "History" which, he said, "influenced comparatively few people but which was important in providing essential material for subsequent historical documentation."

"The flowering of literature in New England actually owes not even a remote debt to the Plymouth colony," said Dr. Moody.

Did the Pilgrims influence government? The Boston University professor said that the Mayflower Compact was not copied by any other group. It served "its immediate purpose of binding the 'strangers' to the rule of 'the saints' but once that principle was established, Governor Bradford 'ruled as a benevolent autocrat.'"

Plymouth codified its laws in 1636 into the Great Fundamentals. This was before the Body of Liberties of Massachusetts of 1641. They also enacted and approved the historic common law rights of Englishmen.

However Dr. Moody said "In its governmental forms there is little doubt that Plymouth was more influenced by Massachusetts than the reverse. Massachusetts made more progress in six years than the Plymouth colony did in all the 70 years of its independent existence."

In conclusion, Dr. Moody said: "The undoubted fact is that the Pilgrim story has fired the imagination of successive generations. It deserves to. But on the eve of another Thanksgiving we do not need to claim for them the accomplishments which centennial orators have perennially thundered forth in calculated oratory. Balance and watering down of historical overstatement in the story of the Pilgrims will never jeopardize our deep appreciation of their contribution."

Nothing so obstinately stands in the way of all sorts of progress, as pride of opinion; while nothing is so foolish and baseless.
